

“Sparky”
By Lony Huff

This piece would be considered “mixed media” since it is thrown charcoal powder, with water color accents. Size 10x10.

I am a hobby watercolorist and I was taking a class from Kim Attwooll (formerly a Sequim resident). We went outside her studio and literally tossed charcoal powder across a blank water color paper. Kim challenged us to see if we could see anything from the result, and one evening I “found” Sparky.

I have never exhibited any work before but due to the fact that your show requires black & white art, I am submitting Sparky.
